

The Blog

Margie in Italy is a travel blog featuring personal stories from Italy and all things Italian. Readers routinely search this blog for up-to-date interesting, inspiring, and useful information related to Italy and Italy travel. You see Italy through my eyes and voice. Articles on the blog include stories and information about popular Italy destinations, as well as off-the-beaten-path places. Conversational in tone, personal experiences with the people of Italy, travel tips, observations, excursions including cooking and wine experiences, and photos and videos from Italy are its main focus. Occasional reviews of authors who write about Italy.
